馮少雲女士

In an era characterised by the transformation of knowledge, innovation, and the co-creation of value, the mission of a university extends beyond enlightening minds and passing on scholarship. It must also respond to society's needs with insight and wisdom, foster civic spirit, broaden humanistic care, and steadfastly uphold integrity as a core value. Ms Stella Fung Siu-wan, through her exceptional professional accomplishments and selfless dedication to the public good, has made a lasting and profound impact across the banking and financial sectors, the wider community, and the higher education sphere. Since 2017, she has provided unwavering support to Hang Seng Management College, later renamed "The Hang Seng University of Hong Kong", contributing not only to tangible advances in campus development but also to the creation of valuable learning resources and platforms for students — embodying her belief that "education enlightens lives, and professionalism elevates society".

As Honorary Chairman of The Hang Seng University of Hong Kong – Foundation and a member of the Fundraising and Donation Committee, Ms Fung has consistently applied her forward-looking vision and sound professional judgment to support the University in securing funds, optimising resource allocation, and broadening its network of partners. She has devoted herself to bridging the academic community and civil society, strengthening essential linkages that advance the sustained development of the University's unique "Liberal + Professional" education model.

With over 30 years of professional experience, Ms Fung has cultivated deep expertise in finance. She served as Executive Director and General Manager of Dao Heng Securities Limited and Dao Heng Commodities Limited, and later as Independent Non-Executive Director of several listed companies, amassing extensive experience in commerce, corporate governance, and investment banking. Amid volatile economic environments, she has consistently upheld a humanistic ethos in corporate governance, risk management, and stakeholder engagement. As the ancient saying goes, "the way of business lies in integrity". Ms Fung exemplifies this wisdom — grounded in local values — while seamlessly fostering connections across regional financial markets. She stands as an exemplary role model among leaders.

welfare, and education. In 2004, she founded Fook Ming Tong Chinese Medical Centre, and later partnered with Beijing Tong Ren Tang to expand its operations, establishing a governance framework that integrates traditional Chinese medical wisdom with modern management practices. This collaboration has enabled the provision of high-quality Chinese medicine services to the public. She has also long contributed to the governance and human resources development of the Tung Wah Group of Hospitals and North District Hospital, playing a vital role — from institutional design to service enhancement — in advancing reform and sustainable development within the public healthcare system.

As a member of the Advisory Committee of the School of Business at Hong Kong Baptist University, she further nurtures the next generation of business leaders. Across these important endeavours, she remains committed to a “people-oriented professional practice”, applying this guiding principle to social services that benefit the wider community.

In the realm of international philanthropy, Ms Fung has served as the International Ambassador of The Gyalyum Charitable Trust in Bhutan since 2017, providing strategic guidance to advance education and expand opportunities for disadvantaged communities through cross-cultural and cross-regional collaboration, demonstrating her global vision and commitment to action. Her appointment as Permanent Honorary President of the Hong Kong Shine Tak Foundation further affirms the high regard in which she is held for her philanthropic contributions.

Ms Fung firmly believes that young people are the pillars and future of society. Over the years, with wholehearted dedication, she has championed youth development by establishing diverse platforms that inspire long-term career planning, empower deep professional growth, encourage innovation, and cultivate responsibility. Her passionate engagement in higher education has significantly contributed to campus development and student enrichment at HSUHK, enabling the institution to progress collaboratively with stakeholders from various sectors, achieving mutual growth and shared success. Her efforts have empowered students to pursue their aspirations, lead fulfilling lives, and embody the spirit of “Erudition and Perseverance”.

With her profound expertise, steadfast commitment to international and local charitable endeavours, as well as pragmatic vision for youth empowerment and educational advancement, Ms Fung exemplifies the modern citizen who unites knowledge with action and leads with virtue. Her achievements bring to life the principle of “leading with virtue and practising with integrity”, while her unwavering dedication reflects the enduring spirit of “perseverance as the foundation of learning”.

Chairman, in recognition of her exceptional contributions to The Hang Seng University of Hong Kong and society at large, I present to you Ms Stella Fung Siu-wan for the conferment of Honorary University Fellowship.
